David M. Eaton

JACKSON, MS

With over two decades of experience, David Eaton represents insurance companies in a variety of civil litigation matters, including nursing home liability, premises liability, products liability, motor vehicle litigation, alcohol liability, trucking and transportation as well as construction litigation.

David's practice is rooted in detailed case preparation and strategic, client-focused advocacy. He dedicates significant time to understanding the facts of each case and the unique perspective of his clients and their witnesses. This depth of preparation informs every aspect of David's defense strategy and case evaluation, ensuring that decisions are grounded in a full understanding of the risks, goals and potential outcomes.
