

MGC Secures Defense Verdict in Premises Liability Trial

September 28, 2026

CONTRIBUTORS

Adam Ribock

803.227.2254

adam.ribock@mgclaw.com

Media Contact

Erica Gianetti

Marketing & Communications Supervisor

erica.gianetti@mgclaw.com

MGC attorney Adam Ribock secured a complete defense verdict in Clarendon County, South Carolina, following a four-day jury trial arising from a premises liability lawsuit in which plaintiff sought millions in recovery. The plaintiff alleged they suffered significant injuries after slipping and falling on a greasy substance at a restaurant. Their spouse also asserted a loss of consortium claim arising from the alleged injuries.

The plaintiffs sought approximately $6,000,000 in damages, relying on $184,270 in past medical expenses and a life care plan exceeding $2,000,000 to support their claims. They contended that the fall caused ongoing pain and impairment resulting in substantial future damages. Through expert testimony and other evidence presented at trial, MGC demonstrated that the plaintiff's claimed pain and future medical needs were not attributable to the subject fall.

After four days of testimony and evidence, the jury returned a complete defense verdict, finding that the plaintiffs failed to establish that the restaurant incident was the proximate cause of the claimed injuries and damages.

Questions? Click here to contact an MGC attorney.

This legal update is published as a service to our clients and friends. It is intended to provide general information and does not constitute legal advice regarding any specific situation. Past success does not indicate likelihood of success in any future legal representation. You may not reproduce, distribute, sell or republish this legal update, or the information contained therein, without prior written content. This legal update is for personal use only.