Yaritzi S. Ortega

ATLANTA, GA

Yaritzi Ortega's practice focuses on workers' compensation matters in our Atlanta office, where she represents both plaintiffs and defendants. Yaritzi brings a thoughtful and client-centered approach to her work, emphasizing clear communication, strong organization and a commitment to ensuring clients feel supported throughout the legal process.

Prior to joining MGC, Yaritzi gained experience through a variety of legal internships, including clerking for the U.S. Attorney's Office, working with a legal clinic and working a summer position focused on medical malpractice matters, providing her with exposure to complex claims and litigation strategy.

"I go above and beyond by bringing empathy, cultural awareness and a strong sense of responsibility to every client interaction. I prioritize clear and timely communication, stay ahead of deadlines and make sure clients feel supported and informed throughout the process. Whether it's preparing a client for a difficult interview, stepping in to manage last-minute changes or breaking down complex legal issues in a way that builds trust, I approach my work with diligence and a deep commitment to client service. At the end of the day, I want both the client and the team to know they can rely on me," says Yaritzi.

In her personal time, Yaritzi enjoys running, baking and spending time with her daughter, who is a constant source of inspiration. She is a proud first-generation professional and values the opportunity to serve her community through her work.
